

BOOKS AND AUTHORS.

"Mr. Marion Crawford, the well-known novelist, is some after an absence of several years. Mr. Crawford, who first became known as a novelist by the publication of "Mr. Isaac," in 1922, is the author of a long list of works of fiction, prominent among which is "The House of the Dead," the first of a trilogy dealing of Roman life and customs. "The House of the Dead," the author's latest work published by the Macmillans, is the third and completing volume of the series. Mr. Crawford will give in the principal cities during the winter a series of readings from his works.

"Witch Winnie's Studio; or, the Artist's Daughter's Art Life." A sequel to "Witch Winnie" and "Witch Winnie's Mystery." By Elizabeth W. Champney. With illustrations by J. H. Champney. 12mo, cloth, uniform with the earlier volumes, $1.50. Dodd, Mead & Co., Eaton & Lyon.

"Bliss at Vlamada." A new volume, the nineteenth, in the ever increasing popular Elms series. By Martha Finck. 12mo, cloth, uniform with the other volumes, $1.25; a bright and interesting work from first to last. Dodd, Mead & Co., Eaton & Lyon.

"The Dodd's School." A book for boys. By J. L. Ford. With illustrations by Luke. 12mo, cloth, $1.50. A capital story of American school life. The school is or was in actual existence not many years ago in the Berkshire hills. The boys of the story are real boys, and the book is a kind of American "Tom Brown's School-days." Dodd, Mead & Co., Palmer, Mesch & Co.

"Sherburne House." A novel. By Amanda M. Douglas. 12mo, cloth, $1.50. The novels of Amanda M. Douglas are sufficiently known to a large reading public who await with interest anything from her pen. The one before us is up to her standard of excellence and is a prettily conceived love story. Dodd, Mead & Co., Palmer, Mesch & Co.

"Muriel Howe." A novel. By Anna Louise Tall. 12mo, cloth, $1.00; paper, 50 cents. The scene of this story is laid in the West, and incidentally strong pictures are given of the curious religious sect calling themselves "Dunhams." Dodd, Mead & Co., Palmer, Mesch & Co.

"Essays in Literary Interpretation." By Hamilton Wright Mabie, author of "My Study Fire," "Under the Trees and Elsewhere," "Studies in Literature," etc. 12mo, cloth, $1.25. This new volume will be welcomed by Mr. Mabie's many admirers. It contains "Essays on Kant," "Some Aspects of Modern Literature," "The Personal Element in Literary Work," "Browning," "The Significance of Criticism," "Some Modern Readings from Dante" and "A Word About Humour." Dodd, Mead & Co., Eaton & Lyon.

"Eighteenth Century Vignettes," by Austin Dobson, with many illustrations in photogravures; cloth, $2. The volume contains the following essays: "Goldsmith's Library," "Steele's Letters," "Bewick's Tailpieces," "The Citizen of the World," "Hogarth's Signatures," "Gray's Library," "Prior's Kitty," "Spence's Anecdotes," "Hawley's Quixote," "The Voyage to Lisbon," "Sir Chas. Greville," "Day at Strawberry Hill," "An Old London Bookseller," "Captain Coram's Charity," "The New Chesterfield," "In Cowper's Arbour," "A Garret in Gough Square," "The Quaker of Art," "The Female Quixote," "The Journal to Madras," "Mrs. Thrale," "Old Vauxhall Gardens." There is a limited edition with the plates on Japan paper at $5. Dodd, Mead & Co., Palmer, Mesch & Co.

In the Dodd, Mead & Co.'s "Makers of America," the issue of current dates is Robert Morris, superintendent of finance under the continental congress, by Prof. W. G. Sumner of Yale. The book is bound and printed in harmony with the preceding volumes of the series. Cloth, 12 mo., $1. Eaton & Lyon.

Jean Baptiste Lemoine, Sieur de Bienville, founder of New Orleans, by Grace King, author of "Monsieur Motte," is another contribution to the "Makers of America" series by Dodd, Mead & Co. The author has given us the corrected biography, all there is extant, of the first governor of Louisiana, and made the transactions in which he figured his torically coincident with the times. Palmer, Mesch & Co., $1.

"Under Summer Skies." By Clinton Scollard, with illustrations by Margaret Lauder. Randolph. New York: Charles L. Webster & Co. Cloth, $1.00. Hitherto Mr. Scollard has been known to American readers only as a poet. In that capacity his name, during the past few years, has come into enviable repute, and his graceful lyrics have been known everywhere. From time to time they have been collected into book form. In the present volume, "Under Summer Skies," Mr. Scollard narrates in delicate prose the story of his wanderings in Egypt, Palestine, Italy and the Alps.

The volume is attractively printed with wide margins, and numerous half-tone illustrations by Margaret Lauder Randolph. Eaton & Lyon.

In L'Industrie Textile appears a description of a new product capable of being used in the finishing of textile fabrics and of imparting thereto a silky appearance. The product is the mineral substance which is found very largely in California in masses varying from gray to yellow. This mineral is first treated with hydrochloric acid, which dissolves out all impurities, and then it is well washed with water to free it from acid, after which it is ready for use. The next proceeding is to mix it with glue, starch, and other adhesive bodies, and use it in the ordinary way of finishing materials; the sized fabric can then be sent through the calendars to give it a gloss. The new product may be used with good effect in paper making for imparting a silky appearance.
